SEVENTH INTERNATIONAL ORIENTAL CONGRESS, VIENNA.

THE Sixth International Oriental Congress, assembled at Leyden, appointed Vienna in its last sitting as the next place of meeting and entrusted the Orientalists residing there with the work of organisation.

The undersigned, therefore, have the honour to issue with the permission of the R. and I. Austrian Government the invitations to the SEVENTH INTERNATIONAL ORIENTAL CONGRESS to be held at Vienna from September 27 to October 2, 1886.

His R. and I. Highness Archduke Rainer has been pleased to accept the Protectorate of the Congress.

The right of membership and of receiving the publications of the Congress may be acquired by the payment of a subscription of seven florins Austrian currency. Applications for inscription on the list of members should be addressed to the Committee of Organisation of the Seventh International Oriental Congress, University, Vienna (Universität, Wien, I.). The subscriptions may be sent by money order or through bankers to the same address.

Gentlemen, desirous of becoming members, are requested to send in their applications as soon as possible, at the latest by August 1, to forward their exact address and to state if they intend to appear in person. The tickets will be forwarded in good time. The Committee will endeavour to obtain for members attending the Congress a reduction of fares on Austro-Hungarian railways and steamers. The particulars will be made known later.

Orientalists, intending to read papers at the Congress, to make any other communication, or to further the objects of the Congress in any other way, are requested to signify their intention to the Committee of Organisation (University, Vienna, Austria) before August 1.

All Orientalists who may not receive a circular of invitation directly, but obtain information regarding it in any other way, are requested to consider that the copies sent to them have miscarried, or that they have been unintentionally passed over by a mistake of the Committee, and to regard the invitation as also addressed to them.

The Committee of Organisation of the Seventh International Oriental Congress:—Alfred Freiherr v. Kremer (Döbling, Hirschengasse 41); Georg Bühler (Döbling, Hermannsgasse 14); Joseph Karabacek (III., Seidegasse 17); Friedrich Müller (III., Marxergasse 24a); Dav. Heinr. Müller (Döbling, Annagasse 11); Leo Reinisch (VIII., Josefstädterstrasse 30).

Vienna, March 23, 1886.

LITERARY INTELLIGENCE.

THE MOGUL EMPIRE.—Dr. Hunter delivered a lecture at Simla, on June 5, upon the fall of the Mogul Empire, pointing out that Akbar based his rule in Hindostan upon a policy of conciliation towards the natives, whereas his successor, Aurungzebe, by reversing that policy, destroyed the Empire founded by his ancestors. The fact that the Commander-in-Chief, Sir F. Roberts, occupied the chair at this lecture, and that Dr. Hunter's audience included most of the members of the Government, is interpreted as an indication of the future native policy of the Indian Government.

THE UPANISHADS.—Professor W. D. Whitney published an article in the American Journal of Philology, Vol. 7, No. 1, on the Upanishads and their latest translation, a review of volumes 1 and 15 of "The Sacred Books of the East." A few copies of this article have been printed separately.

ARCHÆOLOGICAL SURVEY OF INDIA.—We have before us the twenty-first and twenty-second volumes of this Survey, under the direction of Major-General A. Cunningham, C.S.I. etc. Volume 21 contains the last two tours in Bundelkhand and Rewa, during the cold seasons of 1883-84 and 1884-85, when the strongholds of the Chandels of Mahola and their religious capital of Khajurâha, possessing the most famous collection of magnificent temples to be found in Upper India, were visited. In this volume General Cunningham gives a complete account of all the Chandel inscriptions at present known, which continue the genealogy for several generations after the fall of Mahoba.—Volume 22 of the Survey contains a report by A. C. L. Carleylle, First Assistant of the Survey, of Tours in Gorakhpur, Saran, and Ghazipur, in 1877-8-9 and 1880, in which he follows up his discovery of the site of Kapilavastu, the birthplace of Buddha, by the identification of several other important sites in the early history of Buddhism. Amongst these is Râmnagar, the site of the famous Stûpa of Râmagrâma, from which the Nâgas are said to have stolen the tooth of Buddha now believed to be preserved in Ceylon.

THE SUBHASHITAVALI OF VALLABHADEVA.—This work, edited by Peter Peterson, B.A., and Pandit Durgâprasâda, forms Volume 30 of the Bombay Sanskrit Series. This valuable anthology was found in the Public Library of Jeypore by Pandit Durgâprasâda, who brought it under the notice of Prof. Peterson, and the editors were subsequently able to collate it with three other manuscripts of the same work. In the preface Prof. Peterson gives quotations showing how similar ideas present themselves to poets in different ages. Here are two specimens:—

"O' a' the airts the wind can blaw,
I dearly like the West;
For there the bonnie lassie lives,
The lassie I love best."

"Blow wind from where my love is; you touched her, touch me too: this is much to the longing lover, he can live with this."

"She is coming, my own, my sweet;
Were it ever so airy a tread,
My heart it would hear her and beat,
Were it earth in an earthy bed;
My dust would hear her and beat,
Had I lain for a century dead;
Would start and tremble under her feet,
And blossom in purple and red."

"Let my body be resolved, O Lord, into that it came from, and let the elements resume their parts; with bended head, this one thing, O my Maker, I ask of Thee: may I be water in his tanks, light in his mirror, earth in his path, and the wind of his fan."

FOLK-LORE IN SOUTHERN INDIA.—Pandit Natès'a Sâstrî, of the Archæological Survey of India Staff, has compiled a small but very interesting work on the above-mentioned subject. He prints twelve Tales or Fables, with occasional footnotes. Every addition to Indian folklore increases our knowledge of the manners and customs still practised by the tribes of India, and is therefore welcome. The London agents are Messrs. Trübner & Co.

ORIENTAL LANGUAGES IN THE ARMY.—An official circular, issued by the Secretary for War, sanctions the grant of rewards of £100 for proficiency in either Arabic, Russian, or Turkish to a limited number of officers who pass a further examination and obtain the proportion of marks laid down in a general order simultaneously issued.

ROYAL ASIATIC SOCIETY.—On Monday, June 21st, a paper was read by Robert Sewell, Esq., Madras Civil Service, "On Early Buddhist Symbolism."

PHILOLOGICAL STUDIES.—Mr. James Stevens has published Part I. (Mechanism of Language), of Philological Studies, an attempt to bring into a small compass the results of modern Philology, intended by the author to stimulate young students to make a more extended study of this useful and interesting science. A second part will be published, which will be devoted to the origin and development of the English Language and its relation to other languages. This work is printed in English at Turin, by Mr. Vincenzo Bona, the printer to H. M.'s Stationery Office, and is a very creditable specimen of typography consisting of 125 pages.

LEHRBUCH DER JAPANISCHEN SPRACHE.—If any evidence were wanted of the rapid strides made by German foreign trade, we think we have it in a volume we have before us. It is a Grammar of the Japanese language, by Philipp Noack, in large 8vo. containing 424 pages, and published this year by Messrs. F. A. Brockhaus, of Leipzig. Besides being a handbook of the Japanese language for Germans, it contains historical matter in the shape of a table of Japanese sovereigns from B.C. 660 to 1868.

HISTORIA HUNGARORUM ECCLESIASTICA.—Messrs. Brill, of Leiden, have undertaken the printing of Petri Bod's celebrated work on the National Reformed Church of Hungary and Transylvania, the greater portion of which was long supposed to be lost, but three-fourths of which had lain for many years in the library of the University of Leiden. Professor Dr. L. W. E. Rauwenhoff, of the Leiden University, who is about to see Bod's great work through the press, has issued a full prospectus of it, which may be had on application to Messrs. Brill, of Leiden.

PRIMITIVE MONEY.—Mr. Horatio Hale has contributed a very interesting article on the "Origin of Primitive Money" to the "Popular Science" monthly of January, 1886. It is illustrated with engravings of ancient Chinese copper cash, the shell money of Kingsmill Island, California, and the shell Wampum money of the North American Indians. He traces the invention of shell money to the Chinese, from whom it spread through the Pacific Islands to the North American Continent.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT AND THE UNITED STATES.—We have received several pamphlets which the agitation for a Copyright Treaty between Great Britain and the United States has given rise to. One is an open letter to the members of the "American Copyright League," by Roger Sherman, with twelve reasons why a Bill should not be passed by Congress; "Common Sense versus International Copyright," and "Rejoinder to the Answers" to the same by the same author.

EARLY COOKERY.—A new volume of "The Book-Lover's Library" (Elliot Stock, 62, Paternoster Row), has made its appearance entitled, "Old Cookery Books and Ancient Cuisine," by W. Carew Hazlitt. This gentleman has made researches on eating and drinking and the mode of preparing the necessaries for the same, back to the time of William of Malmsbury; but he has also extended them forward to the time of Miss Acton, who can scarcely be considered an antiquated authority; therefore this little volume might be fairly called a history of cooking in all ages. Some of the ancient receipts are very curious; but we should doubt if they would be considered worth much in the present day. Take, for example, the one "To make Cock Ale," by pounding an old rooster up, bones included, soaking him in two quarts of sack, with raisins, mace, and cloves, and putting him in the ale in a bag when it has nearly done working. We should think this recipe more curious than useful.

GRIGG'S PHILOSOPHICAL CLASSICS.—The new volume of this useful series of little books is President Noah Porter's "Critical Exposition of Kant's Theory of Ethics." This book will be a welcome addition to the series; for, as President Porter remarks, at the conclusion of his notices of Kant from German critics, "in one way or other Kant seems likely to continue to stimulate and instruct the ablest thinkers of the present day."

GROBER, G., GRUNDRISS DER ROMANISCHEN PHILOGIE, unter Mitwirkung von fünfundzwanzig Fachgenossen herausgegeben. Lfg. 1, Mit. 4, Tafeln. 8vo. sewed, pp. 280.

Strassburg, 1886, K. I. Trübner. This work, the first part of which has just made its appearance, is evidently likely to become a standard volume for students of a new, but rapidly rising branch of science, viz. Romance Philology. When the Nestor of this science, Diez, published the first volume of his "Grammar of the Romance Languages" just fifty years ago, he did not dare to hope that in this short space of time the study of Romance Philology, of which he was the virtual founder, which he raised to the position of a science, would gain for itself the important position that it now occupies. Following upon his principal works, his Grammar and Dictionary, his pupils and successors have now issued "The Elements of Romance Philology." The part before us commences with a disquisition by the editor, G. Gröber, upon the Introduction to Romance Philology, that is to say, upon the development and aims of the same. The essay displays complete knowledge of this great subject, and is excellently fitted to give students of this branch of science a clear insight into the subject. The second portion, "Elements of Philological Research," is the joint production of G. Gröber, W. Schum, and A. Tobler. W. Schum is the author of the portion relating to the written sources—four plates have been added for the better comprehension of the same—and G. Gröber of that relating to the oral sources; after these have been disposed of, A. Tobler shows what will have to be done by way of philological research, in order that one may be able to arrive at satisfactory and successful results. The favourite opinion which we have already been able to give about the first part we can also in every particular extend to this portion of the work. Editors have been found for the difficult task, who are thoroughly fitted for it in every respect, but we must award the palm to Tobler's Essay, which is a thorough masterpiece. Want of space precludes our giving a longer notice, but we have no doubt that every lover of Romance Philology will procure the work, which is a credit alike to German science and German publishers.

UNITED STATES CONSULAR REPORTS.—No. 61, for February, contains a résumé of the commerce, industries, and finances of the German Empire in 1884-85, and the annual report of Consul-General Waller on Great Britain for the same period.—No. 62 contains reports on the wools of Australia, the coal-mines of Belgium, coffee of Bolivia, the commerce and trade of France, and Consul-General Alden's report on Italy.—No. 63 contains Consul-General Jussen's report on the Austria-Hungarian Empire, which he says is the most heterogeneous collection of races in Europe, Russia excepted. It contains no less than seventeen different principalities within its borders. These Consular Reports are truly marvellous cyclopædias of information, and geography is not their least important feature.

THE UNITED STATES TENTH CENSUS.—Volume 14 of the United States Tenth Census consists of "The United States Mining Laws, and the Regulations thereunder, and State and Territorial Mining Laws, to which are appended Local Mining Rules and Regulations," compiled under the direction of the Hon. Clarence King, Special Agent. The "State and Territorial Mining Laws" form about one-third of this valuable compilation, whilst the "Local Mining Laws and Regulations" make about two-thirds of the volume. Each section is accompanied by a full index. This is the first time that all the Mining Laws of the United States, Federal and Local, have been brought together in one volume, easy for reference, and we specially recommend it to the notice of all British companies holding mines in the United States.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CHIEF OF ENGINEERS, UNITED STATES ARMY, TO THE SECRETARY OF WAR FOR 1885.—General John Newton's "Report to the Secretary of War for the United States," in four large 8vo. volumes, for 1885, has reached us. In presenting this Report to Congress, the Secretary of War again calls attention to the defenceless condition of the sea-coast and lake-frontiers. The Board of Fortifications held its first meeting on the 3rd of June, 1885; their Report will deal with the whole matter of "Sea-Coast Defence." Satisfactory progress has been made on the work for increasing the water supply of Washington. A dam across the Potomac River, at Great Falls, which has been made with this end in view, has been very nearly completed. The tunnel connected with the same has been completed about two-thirds of its length, and the work on the reservoir has made satisfactory progress. Estimates for the whole work have been submitted, amounting to $590,000. The reclamation of the Potomac Flats, which is necessary to the health of Washington, is being proceeded with, and further appropriations are advised to insure the completion of this very necessary work of sanitary engineering as soon as possible.

THE FISH AND FISHERIES OF THE UNITED STATES.—Two departments under the United States Government have been for some time at work on this important industry, viz. the "United States Fish Commission," and the "Census Bureau." It was agreed between them that the joint result of their labours should be divided into two parts, one to be issued under the auspices of the "United States Fish Commission," consisting of thirteen parts or sections, and the other under the direction of the "Census Bureau," consisting mainly of statistics in ten parts or sections. Although both departments must necessarily work on similar lines, the division issued by each will be quite distinct; the "Fish Commission" dealing with the natural history, the fishing grounds, the fishermen, the apparatus, fishery products, and fish culture, together with a bibliography of the subject. The "Census Bureau" will deal more with the figures or results of the investigations, though two monographs are already printed in this division, viz. "Elliott on Seal Islands of Alaska," 171 pages, and "Ingersoll on the Oyster Fisheries," 251 pages, which one would have expected to have found in the division of the Fish Commission. The first publication of the latter, which is now before us, is in two volumes, 4to. text and plates, by George Browne Goode, Assistant Director of the U. S. National Museum, and a staff of associates. It forms Section I. of the portion issued by the Fish Commission, and is a "Natural History of Useful Aquatic Animals," with an atlas of 277 plates. In this section appears another article on Fur Seal, by Mr. Elliott, the author of the monograph which we previously mentioned as being in the Census Division, and another article on the Oyster by Mr. John A. Ryder. We mention these facts to show that any one studying a particular branch, if he wishes to have his subject complete, must possess the two divisions on the fisheries, the one issued by the Fish Commission, and also the one issued by the Census Bureau.

TORPEDOES FOR NATIONAL DEFENCE.—Lieut. W. H. Jaques, of the U. S. Navy, has published a small brochure on "Torpedoes, and their Usefulness for Coast Defence." He comes to the conclusion that ironclad fleets will be defeated not by guns, but by torpedoes, and that the time will come, as our knowledge of that weapon develops, when ironclads will only be considered fit for museums as curiosities and memorials of exploded ideas of warfare. Messrs. G. Putnam's Sons are the publishers of this pamphlet, and it forms No. 34 of "Questions of the Day" Series.

LABOUR IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK.—The Third Annual Report of the New York Bureau of Statistics of Labour (the Hon. Charles F. Peck, Commissioner), treats of working women, strikes, boycotting, arbitration, foreign labour, reduction of the hours of labour, labour organizations, etc. This Report contains illustrations of the tenement houses in the city of New York, where many industries are carried on, showing a state of deplorable poverty, wretchedness, and overcrowding.

MASSACHUSETTS BUREAU OF STATISTICS OF LABOUR.—The Seventeenth Annual Report of the Massachusetts Bureau of Labour Statistics, gives a memorial of the life and services of General Henry K. Oliver, the late Chief of the Bureau, who was a good citizen, soldier, and musician. "Co-operation and Profit-Sharing in all Countries" forms the first and second parts of the volume; whilst "Food Consumption" and "Art in Industry" are the third and fourth. We do not know where to lay our hands on a better general treatise on the purpose and results of co-operation than can be found in this Report.

NEW ZEALAND.—In connection with the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, Dr. James Hector, of the New Zealand Institute, has issued a fourth edition of his "Handbook of New Zealand." In his preface he states that the literature bearing on New Zealand is very extensive, about eighty separate works having been published prior to the foundation of the colony in 1839.—Dr. Hector has also published a detailed catalogue or guide to the geological exhibits of the New Zealand Court of the present Colonial and Indian Exhibition, with illustrations of the exhibits and a geological sketch-map of the islands.

BOOKS, PAMPHLETS, AND PERIODICALS RECEIVED.—Department of Agriculture, U.S.A., Reports 28 and 29, Winter Grain.—The Book Buyer, April, May, and June.—Bureau of Education, Circulars No. 3/85, Review of British Royal Commissioners' Reports on Technical Education; No. 4/85 Education in Japan.—China Review, Jan. and Feb. 1886.—Johns Hopkins University Circular, May.—The Journal of American Orthodoxy, Nov. and Dec. 1885, and Jan. and Feb. 1886, Ringos, N.J.—Harvard University Bulletin, Nos. 33 and 34, Jan. and May, 1886.—Library of Harvard University, Bibliographical Contributions, edited by Justin Winsor, No. 21, Publications of Harvard University and its Officers, 1880-85.—Bulletin of the Boston Public Library, No. 72.—Astor Library, 37th Annual Report of the Trustees.—South Carolina Department of Agriculture, Circulars 1 and 2, April and May 15th, 1886.—Clarke (Robert and Co.),

Cincinnati, Catalogue of Historical and Miscellaneous Publications; List of Books and Pamphlets on the Rebellion, and some Confederate Publications.—Gold Fields of Victoria, Report of Mining Registrars for the Quarter ending December 31, 1885.

In Memoriam.

KALISCH.—Dr. Isidor Kalisch, who was a profound Semitic scholar, died recently at Newark, New Jersey, U.S.A. In 1855 he deciphered a Phœnician inscription found near Aidin, in Asia. He was the author of several works connected with the Jewish religion and took part in the first conference of Reformed Rabbis in America. He was born at Krotoschin, in the Duchy of Posen; but being of liberal views, he thought America would be a better sphere for him than the land of his birth.

MORAN.—We regret to announce the death of the Hon. Benjamin Moran, recently United States Minister to Portugal, and for many years Secretary of the United States Legation in London, and from time to time Chargé d'Affaires of the United States Embassy to the Court of St. James. Mr. Moran, who had been for many years an invalid, died on Sunday, June 20th, at Bocking Hall, near Braintree, Essex, the residence of Mr. Joshua Nunn, late Vice-Consul General of the United States in London. He was born in 1820, in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, and was consequently in his sixty-sixth year; in Philadelphia he learned practical printing and drifted into authorship, as the votaries of that art often do. "The Footpath and Highway; or, Wanderings of an American in Great Britain in 1851-2," published by Lippincott, Grambo and Co., in Philadelphia in 1853, was the product of his pen, besides many contributions to English and American periodical literature. Mr. S. A. Allibone remarks of the "Footpath and Highway," "Books of this character deserve a wide circulation." In this work Mr. Moran gives an account of an eight months' pedestrian tour he made through every county of England except three. In 1854 he prepared the cases for the Commission then sitting in London, for the settlement of claims outstanding between the United States and Great Britain, when Mr. Buchanan, then United States Minister to the Court of St. James's, appointed him Clerk to the Mission, and afterwards his private secretary. From April, 1856, to December of the same year, he acted as Vice-Consul in London, and after that was installed by President Buchanan as Assistant Secretary of Legation, which office he held until July, 1864, when he was made Secretary of Legation, frequently acting as Minister or Chargé d'Affaires, until he was appointed resident United States Minister to the Portuguese Court. He was buried at Pantfield, Essex, on Friday, the 25th of June, and was followed to the grave by Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Nunn, Mrs. Conrath, Viscount Airey, Mr. Baskcomb, representing the Prince of Wales, Mr. Frigout, Chief Clerk, representing the Consulate General of the United States of America, Dr. Taylor (his medical attendant), the Editor of "Trübner's Record," representing American Literature, Mr. Walter Hunt, Grandson of Leigh Hunt (the Poet), Rev. W. Wright, etc. The service was beautifully rendered by the venerable Dean Carrington, Dean and Rector of Bocking, and wreaths were sent by the daughters of the late Richard Cobden, M.P., the Hon. Mrs. Napier, and the Master of Napier, Mrs. Garnett, Mrs. Trübner, Mrs. Baskcomb, Mrs. Conrath, Miss Bird, the Misses Leigh Hunt, and many others; and messages of condolence were received by Mr. Nunn from H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, Governor Waller, Consul General of the United States at London, Lady Vernon Harcourt, and a large number of English and American friends.

THEODORES.—Professor Tobius Theodores, who died in Manchester on April 27th, where he was Professor of Oriental Languages at Owens College, appears to have had a natural aptitude for acquiring them. He was well acquainted with Hebrew, Syriac, Arabic, Latin and Greek; of modern European languages his knowledge of Romaic enabled him to contribute articles to the Greek newspapers, whilst he spoke and corresponded fluently in French, German, Italian, Spanish, and Portuguese. He was born in 1808, at Margulin, in Posen. He came to England when he was 14 to 16 years of age, with his uncle, Herr Lessar, and first engaged in commercial pursuits; in this connection he became such an excellent accountant that Messrs. Gumpel and Co., who first employed him when he went to Manchester, used in after years to pay him £100 per annum to audit their accounts.

NEW AMERICAN BOOKS AND RECENT IMPORTATIONS.

Album of Fancy Alphabets: A Practical Work for Sign Painters and Designers. 4to. paper. N. York. 4s.

Andersen (H. C.)—Fairy Tales: First Series, adapted to Children reading the Third School Reader; edited for School and Home Use by J. H. Stickney. 16mo. boards, pp. 280. Illustrated. Boston. 2s. 6d.

One of the specialties of the present edition is the grading of the stories in three independent series, the first embracing those of most interest to children of from eight to twelve years; the second, those from ten to fourteen; the third, those of twelve and upward. The original Pedersen illustrations of sixty years ago have been reproduced to add to the quaint charm of the author.

Appleton's Annual Cyclopædia, and Register of Important Events of the Year 1885, New Series. Royal 8vo. cloth. New York. £1 5s.

Austin (H.)—The Law Concerning Farms, Farmers, and Farm Labourers, together with the Game Laws of all the States. 12mo. cloth, pp. xxxii. and 256. Boston. 12s.

Ayres (A.)—The Essentials of Elocution. 16mo. cloth, pp. 89. New York. 3s.

A short treatise on the art of reading, refuting almost all the hitherto published methods.

Ballou (M. M.)—Edge-Tools of Speech. 8vo. cloth. Boston. 18s.

Balzac (H. de)—After-Dinner Stories; Done into English by Myndart Verelst; with an Introduction by Edgar Saltus. 16mo. cloth. New York. 6s. 6d.

Barry (P.)—Fruit Garden. New Edition Revised to date. 12mo. cloth. New York. 10s.

Bassett (J.)—Persia, the Land of the Imams: A Narrative of Travel and Residence, 1871-1885. 12mo. cloth, pp. xv. and 343. New York. 7s. 6d.

Bible.—Reproduction in Phototype of the Syrian Antilegomena Epistles 2 Peter, 2 and 3 John and Jude; written 1471 by Suleiman of Hosa Keifa; edited by I. H. Hall. Folio, pp. 8 and 17 plates. Baltimore. 12s. 6d.

Biddle (J. B., M.D.)—Materia Medica and Therapeutics, for Physicians and Students. Tenth Edition, revised and enlarged, with special reference to Therapeutics and to the Physiological Action of Medicines, by Clement Biddle, M.D., and H. Morris, M.D. 8vo. cloth, pp. 524. Philadelphia. £1.

Blow (Susan E.)—A Study of Dante, with an Introduction by W. T. Harris. 12mo. cloth, pp. xii. and 102. New York. 6s. 6d.

Bramwell (B., M.D.)—Diseases of the Spinal Cord. Second Edition. 8vo. cloth, pp. xvi. and 359. Illustrated. New York. £1 10s.

Brinkerhoff (H. R.)—Nah-nee-ta. A Tale of the Navajos. 18mo. cloth, pp. vii. and 236. Washington. 9s.

For several years after the late war, the author was stationed with his regiment in western New Mexico, in the immediate vicinity of the country occupied by the Navajo Indians. He made a study of their customs, religious beliefs, superstitions, etc., which he has embodied in a romantic tale. The railroad and the encroachments of the white man are continually wiping out the peculiarities of the Navajos; hence, in the light of history, this volume has special value.

Brooks (H. M.)—The Olden Time Series; Gleanings chiefly from Old Newspapers of Boston and Salem, Mass.; Selected and Arranged, with Brief Comments, by H. M. Brooks. Vol. 1, Curiosities of the Old Lottery. 16mo. cloth, pp. 73. Illustrated. Boston. 2s. 6d.

Brooks (H. M.)—The Olden Time Series; Gleanings chiefly from Old Newspapers of Boston and Salem, Mass., selected and arranged with Brief Comments. No. 2, The Days of the Spinning-wheel in New England. 16mo. cloth, pp. vii. and 99. Boston. 2s. 6d.

Browne (F. F.)—Bugle-Echoes: A Collection of Poems of the Civil War; Northern and Southern. 12mo. cloth, pp. 336. New York. 10s.

This collection, begun several years ago for the compiler's personal satisfaction, grew so in extent and interest that its publication was thought to be justified by the demand for books relating to the war, and by the literary and historical value of the material.

Dahlgren (Madeleine V.)—The Lost Name. A Novelette. 12mo. cloth, pp. 222. Boston. 5s.

The young man who relates this story is the grandson of a French émigré, who fled from France in 1793, during the Reign of Terror. The interest centres in the young man's efforts to discover who his ancestors were—as his family name has been lost, his grandfather having suppressed it in his flight, feeling an assumed name would be safer. The scene is laid in America.

Henderson (I.)—The Prelate. A Novel. 12mo. cloth, pp. 350. Boston and London. 7s. 6d.

The "Prelate" is Altieri, supposed to be one of the most gifted priests of the Roman Church, who leaves it and joins the "Old Catholics," of which body he maintains the present Roman Church is a corrupted part. The heroine is an American girl, who becomes interested in Altieri, and is made use of to warn him of danger. She puts herself into a false position, is deserted by all her women friends, and suffers many trials. Finally she is engaged to marry Altieri, who assures her marriage is not forbidden by the true Catholic Church. The plot surprises at the close.

Ludlow (J. M.)—The Captain of the Janizaries. A Story of the Times of Scanderbeg and the Fall of Constantinople. 12mo. cloth, pp. 404. New York. 7s. 6d.

Janizaries is derived from a Turkish word meaning "new troops." In 1329 regiments were organized, made up of Christian captives, who were compelled to embrace Mohammedanism. The greatest success of these Albanian soldiers was under Scanderbeg, the son of an Albanian Christian prince, whose principality had been taken from him by the Turks. Scanderbeg was given as hostage to the Turkish ruler, who had him educated in Islamism, and for whom Scanderbeg fought valiantly until convinced of his father's wrongs, when he used the trained soldiers to fight against the Turks, and won twenty-two well-contested battles. The story of the fall of Turkish supremacy is instructively told in the form of romance. The historical details are correct.

Seeley (H.)—A Ranchman's Stories. 16mo. cloth, pp. 356. New York. 5s.

Stories of life and adventure in Texas and the south-west, somewhat in the style of Bret Harte. The author shows special talent in portraying the peculiarities and dialect of the characters of this part of the country. The stories include "A lone-star Bo-Peep," "The mystery of San Saba," "Three Strephons of Concho," "An episode of Paint Rock," "A stage-coach enchantress," etc. etc.

Sinclair (E.)—Christie's Choice. 12mo. cloth, pp. 295. New York. 6s. 6d.

The story opens on the Royston plantation in Texas, with one of those weird scenes in the negro quarter which omened the approach of the rebellion.

Smith (Mrs. J. G.)—Atla. A Story of the Lost Island. 12mo. cloth, pp. 284. New York. 5s.

A poetic tale of life as it might have been on the lost island "Atlantis," concerning which Mr. Ignatius Donnelly recently wrote a learned volume. Mrs. Smith has been for years collecting material for a study of this wonderful antediluvian country, and has under the guise of fiction endeavoured to embody an idea of its stupendous civilization, and to describe the awful cataclysm by which, according to Hindu geology, it was destroyed eleven thousand four hundred years ago.

Col. Snead tells plainly and impartially the story of the fight made by the slavery and anti-slavery parties for Missouri in 1861.

Speed (T.)—The Wilderness Road: A Description of the Routes of Travel by which the Pioneers and Early Settlers first came to Kentucky. 4to. paper, pp. 75. Louisville (Ky.). 9s.

Story of the remarkable immigration to Kentucky which commenced in 1775, and in less than twenty years created a State in the Western wilderness with a population of nearly 100,000. The author describes in an interesting manner the routes by which emigrants passed from the seaboard into Kentucky, and particularly that by way of the Shenandoah Valley and Cumberland Gap, with the last section of which—the "Wilderness Road"—Daniel Boone's name is connected as pathfinder.

Stimson (F. J.)—American Statute Law: An Analytical and Compared Digest of the Constitutions and Civil Public Statutes of all the States and Territories relating to Persons and Property in force Jan. 1, 1886. 4to. sheep, pp. 40 and 779. Boston. £2.

This, though a book of laws, is not a "law-book" in the technical sense, but comes clearly within the scope of a general library. It is a statement of the laws of all the States on every subject pertaining to the persons and property of citizens. It embodies a synopsis of the two hundred and fifty bulky volumes which contain the "written law" of our forty-seven States and organized territories.

Story (J.)—Commentaries on Equity Jurisprudence, as Administered in England and America. 13th Edition, by Melville M. Bigelow. 2 vols. 8vo. sheep, pp. 812 and 947. Boston. £3 12s.

Thompson (H. M.)—The World and the Logos. 8vo. cloth, pp. v. and 91. New York. 5s.

Bishop Thompson makes a strong argument for his belief that consciousness and conscience exist in the human mind, and cannot be accounted for by any theory of evolution, but must be traced to a supernatural power.

Todd (C. B.)—The Life and Letters of Joel Barlow, Poet, Statesman, and Philosopher: with Extracts from his Works and some hitherto Unpublished Poems. 8vo. cloth. New York. 12s. 6d.

Towle (G. M.)—Young People's History of England. 12mo. cl. pp. v. and 388. Illus. Boston. 7s. 6d.

The author has another motive in addition to that of presenting clearly and concisely the main facts in the history of England from the Roman conquest to the present time, which is to show the growth of the political liberties and institutions of the English people, and to indicate in some degree the changes in the social condition, and the advance in literature and the arts. He has successfully endeavoured to relate events and to describe persons, without bias or partiality, and to avoid obtruding judgments of his own.

Tredwell (D. M.)—A Sketch of the Life of Apollonius of Tyana; or, the First Ten Decades of our Era. 8vo. boards, pp. vi. and 354. New York. 12s. 6d.

Apollonius was a contemporary of Jesus; it was claimed that he was divinely conceived, and that he came with a revelation as the Saviour of humanity; his written life tells of miracles performed by him in Greece, and of a religion preached by him advocating a morality and virtue far in advance of his age. Mr. Tredwell furnishes a most interesting biography of him based upon the narrative of Philostratus. Its special aim is to show that the main facts in the history of Apollonius are as well attested as the life of Christ. Great care has been taken to describe the people and the countries through which Apollonius travelled as they were in his day; his philosophy, his religion, and his system of ethics are given as they came from his own lips. A prominent feature of the work is the bibliographical references. The work is handsomely printed by De Vinne; has broad margins and uncut edges.

Underhill (A. F.)—Etchings in Verse. 12mo. cloth, pp. 121. New York. 5s.

A collection of forty short poems arranged under three headings—viz.: Songs in minor keys; Interludes; and Shreds and patches. The author uses French words freely. The minor key seems his favourite throughout. Handsomely printed on heavy paper, with rough edges, and bound in smooth, dark cloth.

Upton (G. P.)—Woman in Music. Second Edition, Revised and Enlarged. 16mo. cloth, pp. 221. Chicago. 4s.

First published in 1880. A renewed demand has encouraged the author to revise and enlarge his work. Appendix contains list of prominent female composers during the past three centuries, and a list of dedications made to women by composers mentioned in work, classified under composers. A good index. Neatly gotten up, with rough edges, clear type, and delicate head and tail pieces.

Van Dyke (J. S., D.D.)—Theism and Evolution, an Examination of Modern Speculative Theories as related to Theistic Conceptions of the Universe; with an Introduction by A. A. Hodge, D.D. 12mo. cloth, pp. 483. New York. 7s. 6d.

Waites (A.)—Forgotten Meanings; or, An Hour with a Dictionary. 32mo. cloth, pp. 73. Boston. 2s. 6d.

An alphabetical list of words, whose meanings have either undergone a complete change in the course of time, or whose origin is almost entirely obscured, being now used in so different a sense. The derivation and original usage, as given in each case, are full of interest.

Warner (C. D.)—Backlog Studies. 16mo. cloth, pp. 262. Boston. 5s.

The Riverside Aldine Series.

Webb (J.)—Cape Cod Cranberries. 12mo. paper, pp. 41. Illustrated. New York. 2s. 6d.

The author has had many years' practical experience as a grower of cranberries, and is familiar with the various difficulties which beset the path of those unskilled in their culture. This pamphlet contains such information as his experience has given him as to locations, proper methods to be applied, varieties of the cranberry, gathering and shipping the crop, etc.

Whittier (J. G.)—Saint Gregory's Guest and Recent Poems. 16mo. paper, pp. 66. Boston. 5s.

Contains all the poems written by Mr. Whittier since the publication of "The bay of Seven Islands" in 1883. "Revelation," "Adjustment," "The wood giant," "The homestead," "Birchbrook Mill," "How the robin came," "Sweet fern," and "The light that is felt," are among the most important. The little book is quite dainty and elegant.

Wickersham (J. P.)—A History of Education in Pennsylvania, Private and Public, Elementary and Higher, from the Time the Swedes settled on the Delaware to the Present Day. 8vo. cloth, pp. xxiii. and 683. Lancaster (Pa.). 18s.

INDEX

TO ARTICLES RELATING TO ORIENTAL SUBJECTS IN CURRENT PERIODICAL LITERATURE.

This Index is an attempt to form a Key with which any one interested in Oriental Literature may find any article or review that has been written on any given subject. It is recognized that this can only be an attempt—many omissions will assuredly be found, but it is proposed to include such omissions, as they may be noted, in future numbers. Every endeavour will be used to make the Index as complete as possible. It is proposed to commence only with periodicals dated on and after Jan. 1, 1885.

NOTE.—The letter N. at the end of a line signifies that the article is only a review or notice of the work, of which the title is given. Authors' names are in italics.
